

Burton White is the Co-founder and CEO of Excella, a tech firm in Washington DC that helps clients use technology to transform their business. Burton and co-founders have achieved a track record of growth and profitability in every year of Excella's existence while developing a brand recognized for innovative solutions and being named a top workplace multiple times by The Washington Post and Washington Business Journal.

Burton has over 28 years of experience in information technology consulting to the federal government, non-profits, and the hospitality, financial services, telecommunications, and e-commerce industries. He is an expert in consulting service delivery, technology strategy, client relationship management, business development, marketing, and organizational and personnel development.

A passionate community leader, Burton has served on the Board of Directors of Homestretch Inc, the Executive Committee of the Washington DC chapter of YPO, and head coach of a basketball team for the Boys and Girls Clubs of Greater Washington. Currently, Burton is a member of the Economic Club of Washington, DC and serves as Co-chair of Diversity and Inclusion for the Washington DC Chapter of YPO.

Burton was an Echols Scholar at the University of Virginia where he graduated with Distinction.